UNIVERSITY

Berlin

If you're looking for somewhere to start your creative career, there's no place better than Berlin. Germany's capital city is known all around the world for its rich art and culture, as well as for its openmindedness. As you walk down the street, you'll hear a multitude of different languages – and you may even come across a world-famous music artist or movie star on their way to work.

My role as Campus Dean is to make sure your experience at BIMM University Berlin is an unforgettable one. You'll not only graduate with friends and memories that will last a lifetime, but with all the tools you need for a career you love. From the equipment you work with to the lecturers who teach you, everything we do is designed to set you up for your future.

Our community is diverse and international, with students coming to us from over 60 different countries. Each and every one of them brings unique ideas and approaches, making it a wonderfully exciting creative environment. On campus, we work hard to make sure that everyone feels completely safe and free to express themselves.

While you're here, my advice is to meet as many people as possible – fellow students, lecturers, industry guests – and take every opportunity to gain practical experience. Inspiration can come from anywhere – a bird chirping, a traffic sign, a person walking past – so go through the world with an open mind. You never know what you might find.

For so many before you, our campus has been a springboard for a career in acting, film, music, and games. All of us at BIMM University Berlin would be happy and proud to accompany you through this important stage of your life.

I hope to meet you soon. Until then, enjoy exploring everything we have to offer!
